Dear Mr. Jordan:

Reference MUR 6548

First, let me introduce myself. I am the campaign supporter who organized and carried out a raffle to raise money for Eric Klingemann. This letter is solely from me and has not be reviewed nor approved by Eric Klingemann. It's content are my statements and do reflect in anyway on Mr Klingemann.

First, it is blatantly obvious that Mr. Shine is a strong supporter of John Carter. Mr. Shine has openly given the maximum donations to Carter over multiple years. It is also obvious that there are other malicious supporters of Carter by the fact that a number of Klingemann campaign signs were damaged or stolen.

More specifically Mr Shine claims are more fairy tale than truth with intentional distortions and with the malicious intent to derail any competition of his longstanding friend John Carter.

FACTS.

The only involvement of GUNS+ was to buy the products for the raffle and then to do the required paperwork for transfer of title. There was NO corporate support or involvement of any kind by any company. More distortions and untruths from Mr. Shine.

NO paid communications or advertisements of any sort occurred at any time during the raffle. Any communications regarding the raffle were either one on one personal contact by supporters and or email to people who have expressed interest in the campaign in some way. More distortions and untruths from Mr. Shine.

Mr. Shine, in his complaint, intentionally withheld pertinent information. Shine had all three pages of the raffle information that were attachments of an email used in providing raffle information to participants. Shine intentionally withheld the page of raffle tickets. For each individual purchasing a raffle ticket they provided name, address, phone number and email for every ticket sold.

The $100.00 raffle ticket in reality only $50 went to the campaign. The other $50.00 bought the prizes.

LEGAL ANALYSIS.

Mr. Shine's legal analysis is full of further distortions and untruths.

Mr. Klingemann's campaign information and website were on the flier.

The logos only duplicated the written information and were so poorly reproduced they could not be inferred to violate any business representations. They only represented actual prizes being offered.

AGAIN, no funds were expended for any of these communications.

GUNS+ was selling guns and conducting business as usual. They had no other involvement. The Klingemann Campaign was providing customers via the raffle.

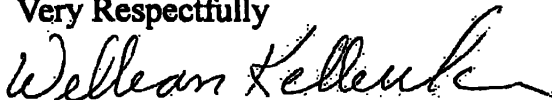

SUMMARY.

Mr. Shine's bogus complaint is really nothing but harassment and has no basis or substance.

Mr. Shine is the one who should be investigated for false and misleading accusations and should be punished to the fullest extent of the law for perjury and withholding evidence.

The fact that he knowingly withheld the ticket information makes it clear his lack of integrity. And his statement he submitted as being "correct and accurate" information is obviously false. Again, his filing with the FEC was solely to bring harm to Mr. Klingemann.

Very Respectfully

William Kelberlau
